Evo Wall Panel System Replaces Bulky Entertainment Centers

If you're the proud owner of an LCD or plasma TV, you've probably toyed with the idea of mounting it on the wall. You certainly don't need a big bulky entertainment center when your TV is so thin, right? But what to do with the DVD player, VCR, TiVo, etc. that you've probably got hooked up to the television? You can't just mount them on the wall.

Well, you sort of can with the Vantage Point frame & panel system from Evo. It mounts flat against the wall and offers two sleek shelves for your TV-related electronics equipment. The TV itself looks pretty darn good hanging from the real wood veneer panels too.

You can customize the system in several ways to fit your living room just right. For example, you can choose from different types of wood, such as maple, walnut, and cherry. This flat entertainment system seems like an ideal choice for a flat-screen television.
