Profile: the evo system by Vantage Point

I am excited about Vantage Point's latest innovation, the evo system - a modular designed wall-mounted entertainment center. In my opinion, this is by far the best attempt at creating an end solution for a home theater system - outside of a home theater room - that blends practicality with room décor.

In simple terms, the evo system consists of aluminum wall-mounted rails and tracks that extend 4" from the wall. They come together to form a structure that looks a lot like a tic-tac-toe game board. The biggest feature of this product is the modular design, which provides flexibility so that anyone can customize it for almost any environment.
